BETTY CARR is known for her enthusiastic and thoughtful teaching style together with her skillful use of light, color and shadow. During the workshop, you will learn to look at temperatures of light and shadow, visual movement and value/color relationships as they apply to your own composition. Betty will provide morning demonstrations to show you the way to confident, luminous, painterly watercolors using bold brushwork. She will emphasize organizing light and dark patterns and the importance of the value sketch. Betty will also cover combining photos to choose your own composition. Following the demonstration/lecture, workshop time will be devoted to your painting while Betty circulates and offers individual instruction to each participant. Betty feels that she has a particular talent to recognize what a student needs.

BETTY CARR has an extensive resume of teaching experience, including workshops at the Scottsdale Artists' School, the Sedona Arts Center, Mendocino Arts Center, Sarasota, FL and the Kanuga Watercolor Convention. She paints in oil and acrylic as well as watercolor. She is a Master Painter in the American Impressionist Society. Betty's book, "Seeing the Light: an artist's guide" was published by North Light Books. Her Cheap Joe's videos are available through YouTube.
